FRANCE WANTS REALITIES.

Movement for Napoleonism Taking Deep Root in the Republic. PARIS, Dec. 8.—M. Ranc's paper Le Paris devoted a page to an article upon the revival of Napoleonism. It hints that the movement is not of spontaneous growth, but that it was manufactured by the imperialists. It adds, however, that the director of the Paris St. Martin would indignantly repudiate the insinuation that he received 15,000 francs from the Bonapartist committee to produce a play.

M. Sool, in an interview with a representative of Le Paris, said he believed that the movement was not of a political character, but merely a sentimental yearning at the glorious past. The fact of the weariness and monotony of the present. The people, he said, want palpable realities and they find only illusions without grandeur and a real democracy.

M. Georges Thibaud said he regarded the movement as a development of Boulangism from which he would not profit anything. M. Dreyfus admitted the intensity of the movement and hinted that the time was coming when the country would be able to rely upon the word of a Bonaparte in the Alps and on the Rhine.

POLICE WERE ABSENT.

Strike Riot Inquiry Commission Makes Some Sensible Suggestions. LONDON, Dec. 8.—The report of the commission which investigated the Featherston riots has been made public. It says that the absence of the police at the Doncaster race meeting led the district at the mercy of an organized mob, whose attacks were preconcerted. The riots might have been minimized had a magistrate accompanied the troops in opening fire, but that if rioters would have been ordered to disperse, no bloodshed would have occurred. The commission is of the opinion that a magistrate should be present on all occasions when he is ordered to fire, where he finds that such a step is necessary, but such an order would have no legal effect and the officers commanding the troops would be justified in refraining from taking the steps to suppress a riot because of the absence of a magistrate.

English Import and Export Figures. LONDON, Dec. 8.—The returns of the Board of Trade for November show a rather large reduction in the foreign and colonial trade as compared with those for October. The imports for November amounted in value to £25,800,856 and the exports to £17,673,473. The receipts of American wheat during the month decreased 1,865,000 cwt. Russia and the Argentine Republic sent in more wheat than they did in November of last year. The receipts of American cotton increased 311,000 cwt., while those of Egyptian cotton decreased 157,000 cwt. There was a heavy decrease in shipment of linens and worsted goods to America.

Shot the Waitress. PARIS, Dec. 8.—An exciting scene took place this afternoon in the ante-room of the Senate. While the ante-room was thronged with people one of the Senate messengers, after an altercation with a woman, drew a revolver and fired at the woman. Several spectators rushed upon the messenger in order to seize him before he could fire again, but he succeeded in firing two shots at the girl, who fell seriously wounded. The would-be murderer was thereupon seized and turned over to the police. The shooting caused great excitement in the Senate.

Changes in Houston Officers. ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 8.—In official circles it is believed that M. Krivichine, minister of communication, will shortly be replaced by Prince Alexander of Oldenburg. Admiral Tchikhatoff, minister of marine, has been replaced by Admiral Koyfotoff, who was recently in command of the Black Sea fleet. Admiral Kravchenko's retirement was due to the recent loss of the Russian warship Roushka and to the fact that it has been charged with a mutiny and cause sufficient search to be made for her.

STOCKHOLDERS ARE RESTIVE

Indications that More Trouble is in Store for the Union Pacific.

"SEGREGATION" HAS COMMENCED.

Shareholders in the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company Meeting in Boston to Demand Better Representation in the Company's Affairs.

Troubles commence to pile as high as Pelion's head for the Union Pacific system and there is no light ahead. From the north land rumors of discontent have been heard, but universally discredited at Union Pacific headquarters. From the Mormon citadels there have come mutterings of dissatisfaction over the course pursued by the officials of the Union Pacific in removing local offices to Omaha, even though the demands of local economy make it necessary for such transfer. Interest payments have been postponed, and in some cases defaulted, until the shareholders of feeders to the Union Pacific system have become restive and now mean to take a hand in the manipulation of the affairs of the Union Pacific company.

The first last Saturday gave exclusive information that there was a movement on foot on the part of the shareholders of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company to insist upon the reorganization of certain rights which they hold under agreement, should default be made in the interest payment. Default has occurred, and a telegram from Boston, just received by The Bee, announces that shareholders of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company are gathering in the Hub for the purpose of demanding better representation in the affairs of the Union Pacific system. It is a well known fact that a railroad man, "is the commencement of a segregation that can only be checked by heroic efforts on the part of the committee of reorganization, appointed to devise some scheme for a new financial policy, contemplating more liberal provisions and a scaling of the amount of interest."

ENJOINED THE CITY COUNCIL.

Federal Court Interferes in a Dispute Between City and Railroads. Judge Dundy granted a temporary injunction yesterday restraining the city from listing as taxable property any of the right of way or depot grounds of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad in Omaha. The petition for the injunction was filed by C. J. Greene as attorney for the railroad company. It recites the fact that the Omaha & North Platte, the Omaha & Southwestern and the B. & M. railroad in Nebraska constitute one corporation which is known as the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, and that in 1891 in each year proceeding the proper officer of the railroad made out and transmitted to the auditor of public accounts at Lincoln a complete list of all the property of the company, including that in the city of Omaha.

The issue in question relates to the difference between the city and the railroad in estimating the width of the right of way. The city takes the ground that under its charter the road is only entitled to a right of way wide enough to accommodate the railroad. The railroad claims that the property in question was purchased and improved before the charter went into effect and that the right of way of the city is the designated width is equally entitled to immunity. They therefore ask the court to enjoin the city from levying any part of the right of way or other property of the company.

The injunction was granted by Judge Dundy with the injunction was granted the necessary papers were made out and placed in the hands of the sheriff for service. The supreme court yesterday and he will be compelled to serve out his term unless he is pardoned by the governor.

MAKES A VERY FAIR SHOWING

Report of the Committee that Investigated the Nicaragua Construction Company.

PLAN PROPOSED FOR REORGANIZATION

Stockholders of Construction and Canal Companies Asked to Join in a New Corporation to Preserve the Assets of the Old.

New York, Dec. 8.—The committee which has been investigating the affairs of the Nicaragua Canal Construction company and devising a plan for its reorganization made a report today. The company's accounts show an investment in actual cash and interest, there of $1,613,268; in securities issued for the purchase of plants, $2,283,230; total, $3,896,498. The results of this investment are: The concessions from Nicaragua and Costa Rica, the charter from the United States, the work done on the canal and the plant necessary to complete the work, including construction of railway, docks, dredges, warehouses, etc.

Its Floating Indebtedness. The fund in floating indebtedness as shown at the time of the receivership is $772,455, including some disputed items. Of this amount $225,000 is due the Nicaragua Canal company for money loaned to the construction company. It has been agreed with the Nicaragua Canal company that in case of liquidation of the plan proposed by the committee, this portion of the indebtedness may be liquidated by the surrender to the Nicaragua Canal company of the assets of the company under the protection of a receiver appointed by the circuit court of the United States, and of the assets of the Nicaragua, beyond the jurisdiction of the receiver, and subject to the hostile action of local creditors. The committee, therefore, recommends that the stockholders assemble together for the organization of a new company which shall acquire the assets and rights of the existing company.

The plan submitted provides for the creation of a new company, for the capital stock of $12,000,000, of which $6,000,000 is to be retained for the benefit of the treasury and $6,000,000 is to be distributed to stockholders of the present company in exchange for their old stock, or to be sold for cash requirements and to protect and maintain the present company. The new company will have in its treasury stock of the Nicaragua Canal company amounting to $14,570,570, and the obligations for first mortgage bonds of the Nicaragua Canal company amounting to $5,559,550 and $6,000,000 of its own stock.

Hon. William H. Bingham of Stowe, has been three times the democratic candidate for governor of Vermont.

He has twice been the democratic candidate for congress from his district.

He has held the office of president of the Vermont mutual fire insurance company for seven years; he has been a director of the national life insurance company for 20 years; one of the finance committee of the central Vermont R.R., and the occupant of various other business and many political offices. So high does he stand in the estimation of the people in his state that he is everywhere styled "Governor" Bingham, a title which undoubtedly would have been his officially if he had not clung with such earnest conviction to the fortunes of his party in one of the strongest republican states in the country.

Ma. Bingham, while one of the most intelligent and versatile men, has not only been a talker of more powerful energy than any other trait.

He is 70 years old. In a letter to Wells, Richardson & Co., dated September 6, this year, he writes that for ten years he has been using Paine's celery compound. To quote his own words: "I have used Paine's celery compound for ten years or more and it has had a very favorable effect on me. I have suffered from indigestion caused by overwork, and it has had a very strong beneficial effect on me. I can recommend the virtues of Paine's celery compound most heartily."

The praise of Paine's celery compound comes from all classes. Some of the most famous men and women in the country have recently written their unsolicited testimonials of its eminent value. Thousands of "the plain people" have testified to its many wonderful cures. It is by far the greatest remedy of the age. It makes people well.

Man - Developed RENEWED THE GREAT LIFE FORCE. Paine's Celery Compound is a purely vegetable preparation, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. It is a powerful tonic and restorative, and is especially adapted to the treatment of all cases of debility, indigestion, and general weakness. It is a most valuable remedy for all cases of nervous prostration, and is especially adapted to the treatment of all cases of debility, indigestion, and general weakness.
